

The disruption advantage: Opportunity in a changing world

The Corporate Services industry has never been so important to the global economy. Neither has it been so misunderstood. Vistra 2020 report identifies three trends that are reshaping the industry:

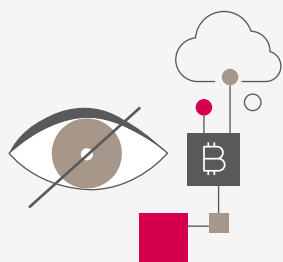

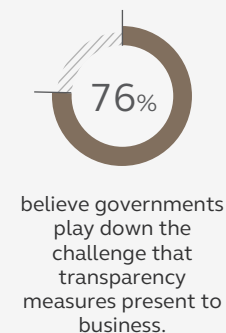

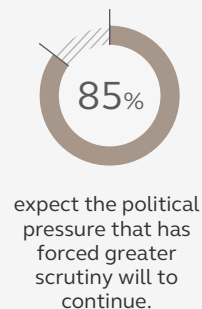

Confidence in the face of backlash

The populist backlash against the industry is growing. Governments are pursuing protectionist agendas. But the industry is confident about growth.

Regulation becomes political

Effective regulation is hugely valuable but is increasingly used to support the populist agenda. In fact, many don't know how the industry benefits them.

Sleepwalking into disruption?

Many are unconcerned about digital disruption and using technology for small-scale projects. Yet disruption is a serious threat.

